PLAN CAMPAIGN FOR FULL SUBSCRIPTION OF LIBERTY LOAN

DIXON COMMITTEE WILL WORK FOR BIG SUM FOR THE GOVERNMENT.

DIXONS SHARE IS $274,000

Dixon Slated to Deliver That Much to Treasury of Nation—Up to Dixon to Make Good.

Dixon is taking hold of the Liberty Loan with true patriotism and enthusiasm. At 4 o'clock this afternoon at the city hall there was a meeting of Dixon business men and women called by the Chamber of Commerce to lay plans for a whirlwind campaign in this community, with the object of subscribing Dixon's share of the big Liberty Loan.

Is Big Sum.

Dixon's share of the Liberty Loan, according to government expectations based on the banking resources of this community, is $274,000. At the present time about $50,000 has been subscribed, ranging in amounts from $50 bonds to $10,000 bonds.

At present Dixon has subscribed less than one-fifth of her share, and there remains but a week for this community to do its duty in this respect.

Banks To Aid.

The three Dixon banks have arranged to help the people of this community buy bonds of any denomination. If you want to buy a Liberty bond, and you should want to if you are a good American citizen, go to your banker and tell him how much you want to invest. If you have the cash you may pay for your bond outright. If you have not the cash but have a desire to do a real service to your country, your banker, any Dixon banker, will loan you the money to buy the bond or he will arrange to let you buy the bond on easy payments. It is expected that a great many Dixon people will arrange with their bankers to take a $50 or $100 bond.

Act At Once.

With only a week to go, and such a great discrepancy in Dixon's subscription, quick action is necessary on the part of Dixon people. You must go to one of the banks at once if you want to be in the front line of those who are answering the country's need.

To Perfect Organization.

President Brinton of the Chamber of Commerce called the board of directors of that body together today and the meeting was addressed by Mr. Robinson, representing the Federal Reserve bank, who explained the great need for increased interest in the Liberty Loan. This committee in turn called a meeting for 4 o'clock this afternoon, at which time it is planned to complete the plans for the campaign.

Nearly five inches of rain has fallen on Dixon and vicinity since one week ago last Sunday, according to the figures of the government register in this city. One and one-tenth inches of rain fell during the severe storm last night, bringing the total for the period indicated to 4.85 inches. As a result of such an unusual wet period much of the low farming land is under water and farmers are beginning to express anxiety over the grains they have planted.

Kryls Band Delight Dixon People With Excellent Concert Tuesday Eve

An audience of nearly 1500 people braved the threatening rain Tuesday evening to hear the concert by Kryl's great band at Assembly Park auditorium, and the intense interest which was manifest in every movement of the director and every selection by the organization, together with the spontaneous applause which followed each number, was proof that the concert was being enjoyed to the utmost. In fact, it is doubtful if any musical organization has ever appeared in this vicinity which gave greater satisfaction than Kryl's band.

As in the afternoon concert, the program was arranged in a manner to show the versatility of the artists and to appeal to all tastes. The heavy overture to Wagner's "Reinzi" opened the program, and from then to the

CHARGE HUNGARIAN WITH FIENDISH ACT

ALEX. BONDI ALLEGED TO HAVE THROWN SICK WIFE FROM WINDOW.

CAME FROM HOSPITAL MONDAY

Woman Was Returned Home Following
An Operation—Husband
Is Now In Jail.

Charged with beating his wife, who had returned from the hospital but Monday, following an operation, and then dragging her from her bed and throwing her from the window at their home, 418 River street, Alex. Bondi, a Hungarian employed at the cement factory, is in the county jail awaiting a hearing, which will not be held until his wife's condition becomes certain. She was returned to the hospital following the alleged brutal assault by her husband, and is said to be in a very serious condition.

According to evidence in the hands of the authorities Bondi and his wife have had many difficulties of late, all efforts of friends and the authorities to act as peacemakers having been futile. When the officers received a call from neighbors at 8:30 last night they went to the Bondi home and found the woman lying in the street. It was stated that Bondi had thrown her from the window, but the man, apparently unconcerned with her condition, maintained she had arisen from bed and jumped out of the window.

grand strains of "The Star Spangled Banner," the musicians played characteristic, humorous and popular numbers in abundance — and Kryl was not stingy with his encore numbers. The cornet solo by the director, a fantasia on American airs, arranged by himself, was the big feature of the evening, and he was forced to respond to two encores, playing "Daddy Was a Grand Old Man" for the first, and Nevin's "The Rosary" for the second selection. Those who allowed the dampness and forboding skies to keep them away from the concerts must always regret that they missed an opportunity of hearing a thoroughly enjoyed and finished musical program.

HIGHLY OF LECTURER

Concerning the lecture work of Dr. Edwin Starbuck who will deliver the address of the evening at the graduation exercises of Dixon high school at opera house Friday evening Henry L. Southwick, president of Emerson College of Oratory of Boston, says:

"I know of but two men in all the country whose discussions of child psychology and child education are so valuable, vital and stimulating as those of Dr. Edwin D. Starbuck. His contribution is that of a scholar, an investigator and a profound thinker. And with efficiency he combines vision.

"Dr. Starbuck is a good speaker. * * * While he never lowers the dignity of his theme, he is non-technical in his phraseology, speaks to the common understanding, is followed by the immature with ease and delight, and he is in a very high sense popular. His discourse is rich in illustrations and touched with light humor."

DRAFT.

WILL SELECT ABOUT MILLION NO SLACKERS ARE REPORTED

They Will Actually Bear Arms and Will Go Into Training
Soon.

(Associated Press)

Washington, June 6—The men of military age in America, some ten millions, are registered.

Only four arrests have been reported to the department of justice last night, the day having been more peaceful than most general elections. A very large number declined to claim exemption from military service, although many had dependents or disabilities.

Selection Is Next.

The next step will be the selection of about 1,000,000 of those registered, who will actually bear arms, and who will be put into training by the early fall.

Many who registered by mail failed to record their present address and it is announced that any who registered may volunteer up to the time of selection and thus automatically pass from the ranks of those subject to conscription.

Entirely complete returns of the registration are not expected until late today or possibly tomorrow.

All who in good faith failed to register yesterday can do so today. Provost Marshal Crowder said today. He estimates the conscription has largely been exceeded in some states.

CHICAGO REGISTRATION EXCEEDED ALL ESTIMATES

Chicago, June 6—The complete unofficial reports of Chicago's registration gave 308,000 names, exceeding all estimates. The last man registered at 4 o'clock this morning. Only 20 slackers have been reported thus far.

Reports from about the state are to the effect that a number of arrests were made, including six at Rockford.

Six Thousand Targets Thrown at Steward Gun Club's Registered Shoot

Alex. Vance of Capron, Ill., was high gun among the amateurs at the Steward, Ill., registered tournament. Every event was shot off without a hitch. The day turned out to be very pleasant after a few hours' cloudiness in the morning and the 32 shooters enjoyed the sport as well as the large crowd of spectators. Six thousand targets were thrown, every event was closely contested and it was a nip and tuck race for the interstate trophies. Eight contestants started out with scores about equal. First one would be in the lead and then another. Three interstate trophies were awarded; one was given on the first 75 targets shot at, one for the first 100 and one on 150 shot at. C. E. Gardner of Rochelle won the 75-target trophy; R. W. Jeter of Ashton the 100-target trophy, and Alex. Vance of Capron, won the 150 target trophy from Wm. Cratty by two targets.

The special event for three trophies donated by the club, was hotly contested, twenty shooters participating in this event. Six were tied with 24 breaks out of 25. Mr. Conrad of Ocoy winning the shoot-off for the first trophy. Five were tied for the second trophy, Mr. Cratty of Steward winning the shoot-off. Four were tied for the third trophy, John Whetston of Steward winning this on the shoot-off.

C. E. Emery (professional) had the long run of the day, breaking 118 without a miss. H. Kirkwood (professional) ran 102. Ed. Graham (professional) ran 68. Mr. Goodrich (professional) ran 100.

Among the amateur runs, Baile of Hinckley made 78 straight and H. W. Strawbridge of Steward 68 straight. Shooters expressed the opinion that this was the best tournament they had attended this year.

The club wishes to express to Mr. Kirkwood and Mr. Goodrich their appreciation for the able assistance rendered in the office.

2,505 men of Lee county, $19 of whom were from Dixon township, yesterday signed up for selective conscription in Uncle Sam's world war army. The Laws of Jesus Morning Service at Liberal Church, Sunday, March 18, 1917, By Joseph Fort Newton.

Most of you, no doubt have already outrun me to the point of my thesis. Just as in the mind of Euclid one attribute of the universe was made manifest, and in Aristotle another, and in the moral idealism of Moses still another, so in the life and mind of Jesus—so deep, so pure, so sane, so vivid—the laws of the Life of the Spirit were most clearly revealed and found their most perfect expression in His words. Out of the deep heart of the most religious of all races, at a time when His people had been passing through a fiery furnace of suffering, He stood forth serene, radiant, not only what M.H. called the realized ideal of humanity, but a vision of the Eternal, a voice in which the universe found clear, sweet and authentic expression. They err who think His words, so ineffable in the beauty, are mere whiffs of incense on the summer air, mere snatches of a far off haunting melody. No, they are the calm, clear statements of principles as universal, as immutable, as inescapable, in the end, as the laws of numbers, of physics, or of morals. After ages of tragedy we must come back to them and learn the way of true life.

Such words have a life of their own, quiet, deep, immortal; and they grow. That is because they are not mere words, about life, but living words in which life itself tells us what it means, its laws, its passion, and its prophecy. He came, He said, that men might have life, and have it abundantly—rich, free, sparkling, overflowing, eternal. Never once did He use the word religion, but always the word Life. Whatever makes for a deeper, purer, truer, more radiant life is good. All that stunts, dwarfs, retards and pollutes life is evil. By the same sign those who grow day by day are Good, and those who do not advance toward fullness and freedom of life are Bad. Methinks the Master must have looked over the shoulder of the late DeMorgan when he wrote that shining sentence in "Joseph Vance," in the 40th chapter: "The highest good is the growth of the Soul, and the greatest man is he who rejoices most in great fulfillments of the will of God." Exactly: the life of man has its roots in the will of God, to obey which is the secret of life, its joy and power, its liberty and peace. He made the will of God His meat, His bread, His milk, His joy by night and His habit by day, and it is thus that his words reveal the laws of life—as a ray of sunshine passing through a prism, reveals its colors.

There is, first of all, the Law of Faith—faith in God, in life, in man; faith in the love of God and His nearness, in the infinite value of the soul and its eternal life. For Jesus the great, deep, tender word Father best told the truth about God, and his attitude toward man was only the other side of His vision of God. The two were so interwoven in His faith, as they are in fact, that He never thought of them apart—God and Man and their eternal life together being the theme of His gospel. No one on this earth has ever believed in man as Jesus believed in him. He saw in each human soul the possibility of eternal development. He expected great things of man, asking him to be perfect as God is perfect. Surely we are saved, if saved at all, as much by His faith in us as by our faith in Him. Perhaps, indeed, it is His faith in us that evokes our faith in Him, as like evokes like. Now faith, in the mind of Jesus, was no blind belief, no object obedience to authority; it is a law of life, a force in the soul like electricity in nature. Radium is not more amazing in its power. A tiny grain of faith, He said, can pluck up a tree or cast a mountain into the sea. As radium, albeit always with us, remains unknown for ages, so we have not yet guessed, much less discovered, the incredible power to faith. It is that in many which lays hold of God, unites us to Him, and makes His infinite love and power our own.

Two great words tell of two laws which, in the life of the spirit are like gravitation and chemical affinity in nature—Righteousness and Love. Jesus did not come to destroy the moral law, but to fill it full of meaning, making it a new motif in the music of life. Taking the old, immutable moral law, He couched it into a living beauty, showing how inward and spiritual it is, reaching not only to the act but to the motive, and to the making of the motive, so that a lustful look is sin. Morality may be cold, clear righteousness but when love is added it becomes goodness. "Love and do as you please," said St. Augustine; for he who truly loves will please to do right, will hunger and thirst after righteousness. Love is righteousness applied to life, duty done with joy, with abandon, serving those who hate us, extending even to our enemies. What Jesus taught may seem hard, but in His life it is a wonder that haunts us, subdues us, exalts us, making us wistful with that sweet sadness in joy which all perfect things evoke. Even Bernard Shaw sees now, amid the terror of tragedy, that we must return to Him and learn His way if we are to have a society that is enduring, or worthy to endure.

With the law of salvation, as Matthew Arnold stated it, which he called the Secret of Jesus, we are all familiar; it lay in the denial of self, in "dying to live." This, in one aspect, is true, and true, not for one moment only, but for the whole of life. But, taken by itself, it is not the whole truth of the principle that who would save his life shall lose it, and who loses his life wins it. As stated by Arnold it is negative, and leaves the secret of the secret yet to be found, since on its positive side is it really "the realization of life," as Tagore called it. It is joy, power, emancipation, escape from the narrow wall of self into a large, eternal fellowship. Salvation, as Whitier said, is simply this—salvation from our own selfishness, from love of self, thought of self, forgetting ourselves in divine carelessness in the service of others. Those who think most of saving their souls are furthest from it. If this be so, much of what passes for piety is rank impiety, in that it ignores the law by which we are saved from ourselves and made citizens of a Divine Society.

Only three other laws of Jesus can be named out of many, each of which runs all through the fabric of life like threads of gold. There is the law of reciprocity set forth in the Golden Rule, by which He asks us to enter into the life of our fellow, sit where he sits, put ourselves in his place and know his handicap, his hard fight, his secret longing for the right; and so learn mercy, consideration, sympathy and justice. There is the law of forgiveness whereby, if we forgive not those who sin against us, God will not, cannot, forgive us. Now that is not an arbitrary edict, but a law as natural, as inevitable as gravity. Forgiveness means to give back, and if we refuse to give love we at the same time make ourselves unable to receive it although the love of God may brood over the yearning to bless us. And finally there is the law of will. "If any man will do His will, he shall know,"—first action, then insight; first decision, then precision; and so it comes at last to the great adventure of living the life. Jesus did not expect men to be able to follow Him in His high path in their own unaided strength. While we must strive, resist, watch, seek and serve, using all the powers God has given us, He pointed to sources of power by which we may live abundantly, victoriously, by the grace of God who liveth in us to will and to do.

And this is the eternal life. Jesus did not argue about immortality; He had no need to do so. God is here, eternity is now. As the sky begins at the top of the ground, so those who obey the laws of life of the spirit in Christ enter into the immortal life in which the death of the body is but an incident—a cloud-shadow that passes and is gone, leaving nothing altered. The eternal laws rule there, as here. The eternal life is not duration, but devotion to the will of God in the faith and spirit of Jesus.

HOW TO MAKE A RACE OF GIANTS

W. E. D. STOKES WRITES BOOK ON EFFICIENCY

Says Men Produce by Eugenics Could Work 12 Hours a Day With Ease.

New York.—No maudlin sentiment for W. E. D. Stokes—he believes in efficiency. Mr. Stokes, who is known to some persons as the owner of the Hotel Ansonia, to others as a breeder of thoroughbred horses in Kentucky and to still others as the target for some bad marksmanship on the part of a couple of "shooting showgirls" a few years back, has just written a book that reveals this inclination toward perfection.

Having qualified as a successful horsebreeder, Mr. Stokes now steps forward with 256 pages of advice on the breeding of humans in a volume called "The Right to Be Well-Born." In the book he says: "Why do we not breed human beings to endure hard work and do it with ease just as we breed the draft horse? Let us have a registry for our laboring classes and breed them so their actual values will be known to themselves, the public, and their prospective wives; the amount of labor they are able to perform can be estimated and they can be paid accordingly."

These men, the author points out could work ten or twelve hours a day without straining themselves, or could carry from 200 to 3,000 pounds. They might be graded from A to F, he says.

"Why, there is no trouble to breed any kind of men you like—four feet men or seven feet men, or for instance, all to weigh forty to 400 pounds—just as we breed horses," he asserts. "It only takes a longer time and more patience."

Alcohol Mr. Stokes pronounces the world's greatest curse, and he has a few remarks to make about the modern young woman in connection therewith, as witness:

"It is well known that the young people of our best families indulge in the use of alcohol, cigarettes and cigars at their social functions. Young women as well as young men drink liquors and strong wines and smoke cigarettes to excess, and the young girls often outdrink the men."

Many of the famous old New York families are dying out, Mr. Stokes says, because the children indulge in excesses and are not scientifically mated.

Horse Never Fails to Stop at House Where Danger Sign Is or Has Been.

Cheyenne, Wyo.—"Bear River," the police horse that is being ridden by N. G. Peterson in his canvass of the city for measles, is the best canvasser in Cheyenne, according to his rider, and can see a measles sign further than any doctor or agent in town.

"He never fails to see them at least a block away," Officer Peterson said, and added, "that it seems to me as if the horse can almost smell the disease, he knows so well where the houses are that are quarantined."

"He's the most valuable aid that the city has in the hunt for the measles," he said, "and always stops before a house where there is a sign or where there was a sign. It is this last that puzzles me. I can't remember half the time whether or not there was a sign on the house, there are so many of them, but that pony never fails. He stops at every one of them unless I use the spurs and make him go on."

STREET OF MARBLE UNCOVERED

Found at Alexandria, Egypt, in Drainage Excavation.

Alexandria, Egypt.—Excavations here for the purpose of a new drainage scheme has brought to light a large and excellently constructed conduit, obviously of Roman origin, through which flows a stream of clear water.

Another discovery is that of a splendidly built road 13 feet below the surface paved entirely with blocks of rough marble.

MILK SAVES BURNING BARN

Farm Hand Heads Off Flames in New Manner.

Waynesboro, Pa.—If milk had not been used for fighting fire in the large bank barn on the Strickler farm, near this place, a few days ago, the loss would have amounted to several thousand dollars. The fire was seen by Mrs. Elmer Beeler and Arthur Kirkpatrick. Filling several buckets with water they started for the barn, but found that a man who was milking cows in the barnyard had subdued the flames with three pails of milk.

The first real Pullman, built in 1863 costing $20,000, was operated solely for men. Mrs. Abraham Lincoln was among the first women in this country to travel in a sleeper.

Three hundred years ago any man absent from church on Sunday was fined a shilling. What a war revenue that would produce now!

For Miss Sennett

Miss Edith Miller entertained at her home, 745 N. Crawford Avenue, on Monday afternoon for Miss Ferno
Sennett, whose engagement to Fred Kroehler of this city has been announced. The wedding will take place the latter part of June. The affair was a linen shower and the guests twelve high school friends of Miss Sennett, who is a graduate of the [North Dixon High] school.
Flowers prettily decorated the house and a guessing contest, known as the flower courtship, formed part of the afternoon's diversion. The gifts for Miss Sennett, linen towels, doilies, luncheon cloths, etc., all of them very handsome, were hidden about the house and Miss Sennett was obliged to ferret out their hiding places. Appetizing refreshments were served.

Miss Sennett returned about June 1st from a concert tour, for which she left Dixon last fall, and in which she visited a number of western states, closing the tour in southern Illinois. Miss Sennett is a cornetist of considerable ability and has often given Dixon friends a treat by her charming playing. Mr.
Kroehler, her husband-to-be, has completed his training as a physical director for Y. M. C. A.'s and a summer at Lake Geneva, where Mr.
Kroehler will assist in the training school, will constitute the honeymoon.

fit of the Red Cross. Each guest this afternoon has promised to entertain with several tables of bridge given by each will be donated to the Lee County chapter of the Red Cross Society. The ladies will entertain as much as possible on Mondays and Saturdays in order not to interfere with the meetings at the shop. These chains of bridge parties have proved a very popular means in Chicago for obtaining funds for the Red Cross and other charities.

The reason women write such grateful letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham ham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives. Freed from their illness they want to pass the good news along to other suffering women that they also may be relieved. This is a praiseworthy thing to do and such women should be highly commended.

Honor Miss Oakes

The Queen Esther Circle of the Methodist church met, with 35 members present, at the church Tuesday evening where they were joined by the young ladies of Mr. Kleppinger's Sunday School class in a farewell supper for Miss Jennie Oakes, who gives up teaching in order to be at home the coming year. Miss Oakes has made many friends here who deeply regret that her stay here is so soon to be ended but hope for frequent visits. The supper was a scramble affair and was highly enjoyable. At its close Mrs. L. F.
Cooling, president of the Sunday School class, presented Miss Oakes a handsome hand-painted plate, the gift of the class. Miss Oakes expressed her appreciation with a few heartfelt words of thanks and responded to demands for a vocal number very graciously. The business session of the Queen Esther Circle followed, opened by reports of the last year's work by the secretary and the treasurer. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

afternoon from 2 o'clock on. The picnic supper will be served at 6:30 serve coffee provided it is orders this evening.

Strange Patriotism

Strange patriotism it is that leads to the stealing of a flag. A North Dixon resident lost last evening handsome flag that was stapled to the porch of the residence. A slight noise on the porch was noted at 8:30 but little thought was given of it until later when it was found that the flag was missing, the staples wrenched loose by the thief.

JUNE HOME-FURNISHING SUGGESTIONS

FOR OUTFITTERS OF NEW HOMES

GOOD Furniture is the CHEAPEST in the END---

Simply because some of the articles you have seen and desired to possess were priced a little higher than you expected—don't think that you cannot afford them.

The difference of quality and the kind that is made to "sell at a price" represents the lack of one or more of these essentials—material, workmanship, or finish. The money you invest in home furnishings that combine all of these qualities is money wisely expended.

Every article on our floors conforms to certain ideals—either in design, material, workmanship or finish. If it were of sub-standard quality we wouldn't show it at all.

As you go about selecting the furnishings for your home, do not overlook the importance of picking THE BEST because the BEST is the cheapest in the end.

Colton-Felt Mattresses

There is so much to be said in favor of Colton-Felt Mattresses that every bed and bedding buyer ought to know—we feel that it is only fair to yourself that you visit this department and get the real facts.

Look straight through one of these splendid mattresses (see the demonstration) and you'll understand just why the soft cotton felt layers never "bunch,"
"roll up" or destroy the elasticity and comfort of the mattress itself.

Make your own choice of design. There's a big variety of patterns and grades to choose from in these All-Felt Mattresses.

Don't Simply Buy a Bed-- a Simmons and be Satisfied

Permanent beauty and service in a bed cannot be expected unless quality is put into its making in the first place. You want, and have a right to expect, the a quality in the bed you buy, and we want to have all and more than you expect.
That's why we urge you to make your selection from our SIMMONS Display.

A Genuine Simmons Steel Bed at Your Price---Pick it Yourself

SIMMONS Beds represent the newest and most approved ideas in steel bed construction. They are scientifically-built beds—electrically welded, made of steel, yet so light in weight that a child can move them with ease.

There are dozens of styles and finishes to select from. There is a finish that will harmonize perfectly with any bedroom furniture you now have or may select later. They are handsome—restful—and strong. Furthermore a genuine SIMMONS will cost you no more than you expect to pay for any kind of a bed.

(EDITORIAL)

The Nation Calls for Aid and Dixon Will Respond to Liberty Loan

The nation's first and greatest need in this the most serious crisis in her history is money to provide the sinews of war. The government wants men and money in sufficient abundance to insure a speedy and victorious conclusion to the war. America yesterday gave the men. She is now asked to loan the money. Dixon gave her full quota of men. Dixon will also give the full quota of gold. She will do her share, which will be no more and no less than every other American community.

MONEY IS THE LEAST THING WE CAN GIVE

The young men of Dixon and Lee County who offer themselves as soldiers are making a greater sacrifice than any one who does not do so possible can make. Those who for various reasons cannot and should not go to war, will be doing the least they can do for our country if they will give liberally of their money for the government to use. A financial sacrifice cannot be compared to the personal sacrifice of the boy that goes off to war.

BUT FINANCIAL AID IS A MOST PRESSING NEED

However, he who offers his financial surplus to the government is performing a highly patriotic action, and an action that will be fully appreciated. The money is the first necessity of the war and those who give money and those who stay at home and provide more money for the prosecution of war will be as valuable to the government as the men on the firing line.

EVERY ONE CAN ARRANGE TO BUY A LIBERTY BOND

If this community is to have the right to hold up its head among other American communities it must subscribe, yes, over-subscribe, to its share of the Liberty bonds. If you desire to take this patriotic action, you can easily arrange to do so, even though you lack the funds just now. You can go to any bank in Dixon and by making a small initial payment secure the loan of sufficient money to buy either a fifty or a one hundred dollar bond.

The Dixon bankers are actively participating in the government campaign to sell the bonds. Go to your banker and tell him the size bond you want, from fifty dollars up, with no limit. If you have the cash, buy the bond outright. If you have not the cash, the banker will loan you the money and make convenient arrangements for payments. No fairer proposition could be made.

THREE AND ONE-HALF PER CENT. BONDS AND SAFE.

The investment is as safe and as solid as the earth itself. The payment of this money back to you is guaranteed by Uncle Sam. The Government bond which you receive is just as safe and more valuable than its equivalent in gold.

DIXON'S SHARE OF LOAN QUARTER MILLION

The national Liberty Loan amounts to six per cent of the total banking resources of the nation. Therefore, each community, to do its share, must subscribe to an amount of bonds equal to six per cent of its own banking resources.

There are a number of states that will be unable to subscribe their full share,—sparsely settled frontier states—and because of this the United States Treasury department has asked all the communities of the more prosperous states, among them Illinois, to purchase an amount equal to eight per cent of the banking resources.

Following table shows subscriptions expected from Lee County Communities:

	BANK RESOURCES.	PRO RATA SHARE 8%
Dixon's banking resources are $3,425,-000. The amount that Dixon should subscribe, or eight per cent of the banking resources, is $274,000. Dixon's duty is plain, as is the duty of every other community in Lee County. The	DIXON.....3,425.000	274.000	time is short and the need is great. This

OBITUARY

MRS. THOMAS HAMILTON

The following obituary of Mrs. Thomas Hamilton, formerly of resident of 723 E. Chamberlain street, Dixon, will be of interest to many of her friends here.

Lillian Struthers, daughter of James and Janet Struthers, was born at Strathaven, Lanarkshire Scotland, March 3d, 1843, and departed this life May, 30th, 1917, at the home of her daughter, Helen, in Lewistown, Montana.

In June of the year 1866, she was united in marriage with Thomas Hamilton of Glasgow, Scotland, and shortly afterward came to America with her husband, traveling direct to Polo, Illinois, where they became members of the group of early settlers who by their year of toil and planning made this section one of the garden spots of the earth. Eleven years ago she removed from the family homestead near Polo to Dixon, there to spend the declining years of her life in quiet.

Seven children are left to mourn her loss: Marion of Rockford, Helen of Lewistown, Montana; Mrs. Elizabeth Sweeney of Chicago, John of Los Angeles, Calif.; James and Thomas of Polo, and Archibald of Chicago.

Her husband Thomas Hamilton and three children, Mrs. Janet Gilbert, Christiana and Alexander Hamilton preceded her in death.

Service seems to be the word that best expresses the keynote of Mother Hamilton's whole life. She found her greatest happiness in caring for those whom she loved and could help. Her greatest joy was in knowing that she had brought joy to those about her. No mother was ever more tender or self sacrificing. Intensely homeloving by nature her every effort was put forth to make her home one of happiness and peace. Of strong religious conviction and of Presbyterian faith from early girlhood, she taught her children to know the bible and to use it as a guide in life. In the perplexities of her life it was her comfort, and when grief came it was a comfort, while in her declining years it became a solace to her. The grief and pain which came to her has used magazines, popular, stand-the family because of the loss of Mother is softened and smoothed by a consciousness that she was spared to them beyond the allotted span of life. In the memory of those she loved and cared for, Mother Hamilton always will live. Funeral services were held at 2:30 at Polo Presbyterian church yesterday.

Patriotic Registrars.

With the completion of the work the thoughts of the people will naturally go to the registrars, all of whom worked from 7 a. m. until after 10 p. m. without pay. Incidentally, a number of women demonstrated real patriotism by heeding the call for volunteers to distribute copies of the president's war message to each young man who registered. In practically every district in the county ladies were on hand distributing pamphlets.

Detailed Reports.

Detailed reports will be compiled by the county registration board and they will show the number of aliens, negroes and those who claim exemption, which report will be published later.

Word has been received stating that the Y. M. C. A. tent in Rock Island is well patronized by the boys of the 6th. The reading matter for use of the soldiers is used constantly. In order to secure a greater amount of magazines and to give Dixon people a chance to help the local boys pass away leisure time while in camp off duty the Y. M. C. A. is making a collection of magazines to be sent to the camp at Rock Island. Any person who has used magazines, popular, standard or religious may leave them at the Y, from which place they will be forwarded regularly to the 6th. Only magazines in good condition and of fairly recent date can be used. So bring them in at once. Do it today.

Brechon-Conroy Nuptials

This morning at 8 o'clock at St. Mary's Catholic church, Walton Miss Mary Brechon, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Brechon, of South Dixon, and John J. Conroy, prominent farmer of South Dixon, were united in marriage. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. C. F. Conley, priest of the Walton parish. Miss Julia Brechon, sister of the bride, and the bridegroom's brother, Edward Conroy, were attendants at the wedding, which was witnessed by the immediate families and a group of near relatives and friends of the contracting parties. St. Mary's choir sang, the nuptial mass being used. White Georgette crepe over satin with silver trimmings, constituted the bridal gown. No veil was worn but a Panama hat with maline and white flower trimmings made a charming accessory to the gown. A rosary and a prayer book were carried. The bridesmaid's gown was of tan crepe de Chine with soutache braid trimmings and a white hat completed the costume. The bridesmaid carried white roses.

A breakfast and wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. The house was elaborately decorated in pink and white with wedding bells and flowers. Peonies, carnations and bridal wreath were the flowers used, bridal wreath arranged in a basket forming the centerpiece of the breakfast table. Kewpies were also used in the table decorations. The guests at the breakfast and reception were members of the two families, a group of relatives, and the officiating clergyman, Rev. Fr. Conley. Mr. and Mrs. Wil-

Ham Lynn and family of Aurora were out-of-town guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Conroy left this afternoon on an extended Eastern trip and upon their return they will be at home to their many friends on the South Dixon farm of Mr. Conroy. The bride's going away suit was of dark blue taffetas with which a white hat was worn.

Both Mr. Conroy and his bride have the highest regard of all their friends and acquaintances and come of prominent and substantial families. Their marriage will mean the signal for a shower of congratulations and best wishes.

PRINCESS THEATRE

Anna B. Nilsson appears at the Princess tonight with an all star cast in "The Inevitable." This photoplay is a 5-reel Erbo-graph production containing 84 big situations. Chester Gar nett is the leading man and does more than justice to his part and in his support of Anna Nilsson also. The play is one of intrigue and adventure with a love interest woven through it in an appealing way. The struggle between love and duty toward the memory of her father is the conflict in which the star finds herself. The problem she solves and the way in which she does it makes a story of unusual appeal.

LOWDEN ASKS THAT POLITICS BE BARRED

Tells Legislature Nation Fights for Its Life.

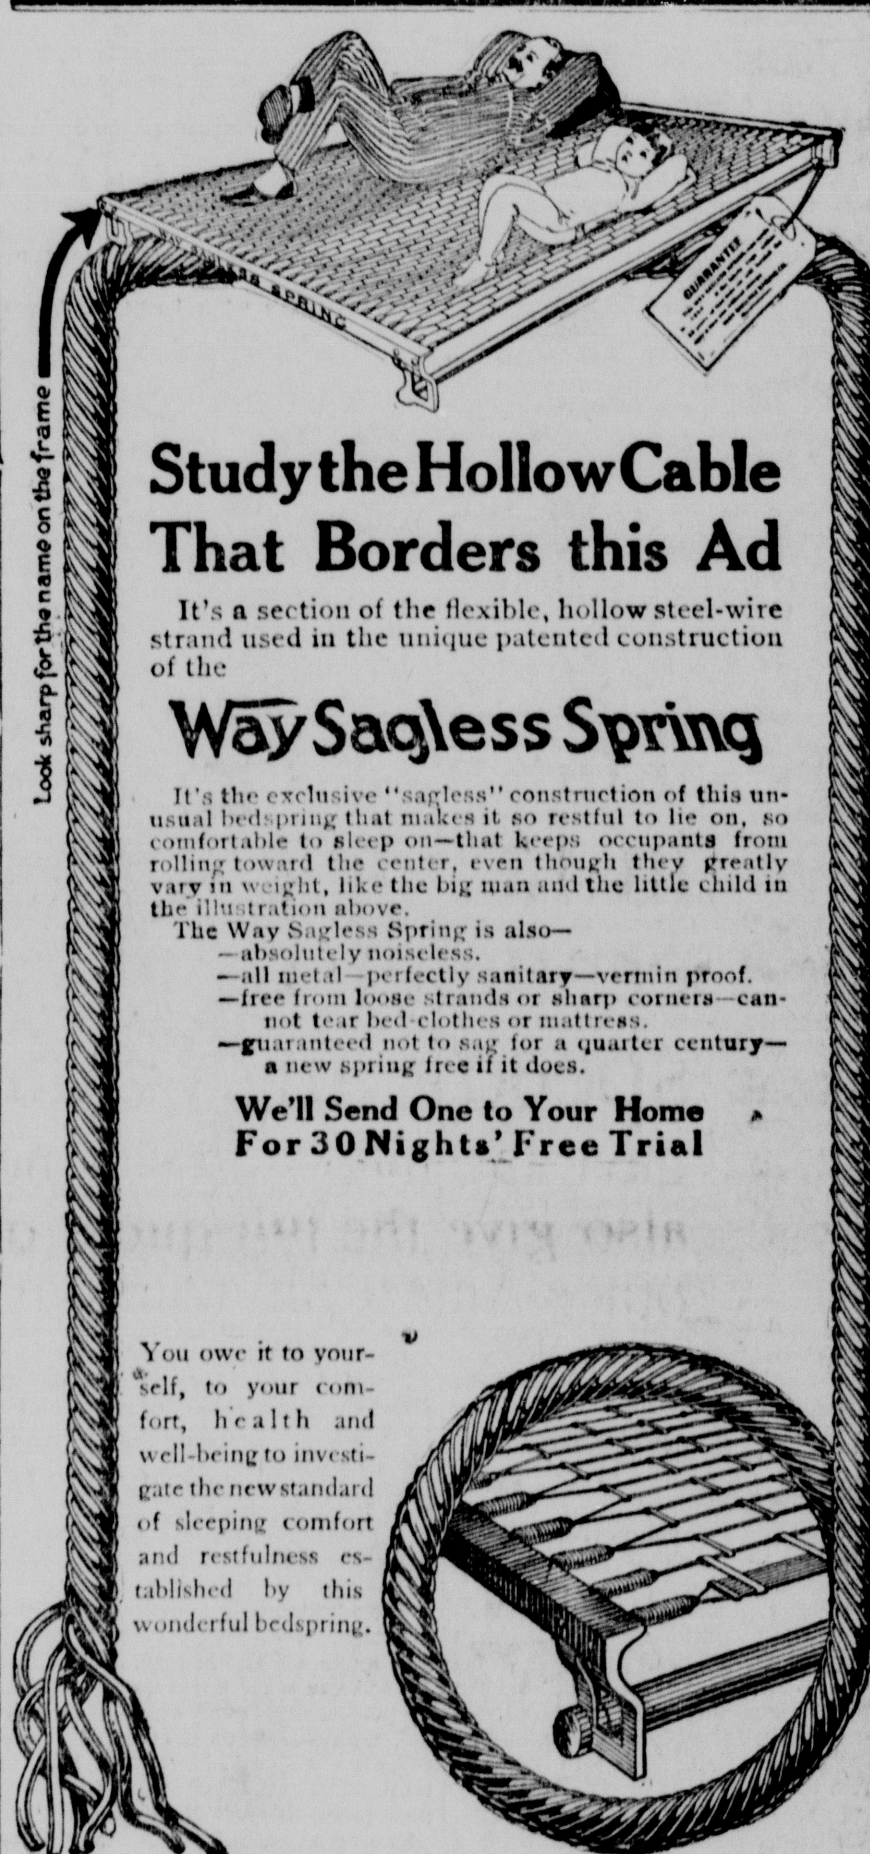

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., June 6.

Governor Lowden, meeting with a joint session of the house and senate members, asked them to recommend to him the names of two persons from each of their districts who are to serve on draft exemption boards. The governor is to appoint a third member, who is to be a physician.

In counties of 45,000 inhabitants or less there will be one board of three members. In counties having a greater population there will be a board for each unit of 30,000 inhabitants. Governor Lowden called for the closest co-operation regardless of party with him in the appointment of conscription exemption boards. The governor declared that the United States for the first time in its history is fighting for its very existence, and that there will be no country unless "we win this war." He spoke of the grave duties that have devolved upon him in the last month. "The burden has been heavy on all branches of the government," he said. "If I am to meet my obligations, I must have the closest co-operation regardless of party affiliation of every member of this assembly. The boards to be appointed will be an influence and a power in the community they represent, and they must be representative of the public in their districts."

Attorney Bartlett of Mendota was here yesterday on legal business.

SYNOPSIS

Talbot Ward's challenge to Frank Munroe to a personal encounter to determine whether Munroe is fit to make a trip to California in search of gold is accepted. Munroe gets a hammerlock on Ward and wins the bout.

CHAPTER IV.
A Tropical River.

WE returned through the town. It was now filled to overflowing with our compatriots. They surged everywhere, full of comment and curiosity. The half naked men and women with the cigars and the wholly naked children and dogs seemed not in the least disturbed nor enervated.

Talbot's earnest inquiries finally got us to the Crescent hotel. It was a hut exactly like all the rest save that it had a door. From its name I suppose it must have been kept by a white man, but we never got near enough through the crowd to find out. Without Talbot we should have gone hungry with many others, but he inquired around until we found a native willing to feed us. So we ate on an upturned hencoop outside a native hut. The meal consisted of pork, bread and water.

We strolled to the beach at the hour appointed with our boatman. He was not there, nor any other boatman.

"Never mind," said Ward. "I'll know him if I see him. I'll go look him up. You fellows find the boat with our things in it."

He and I re-entered the village, but a fifteen minutes' search failed to disclose our man. Therefore we returned to the beach. A crowd was gathered close about some common center in the unmistakable restless manner of men about a dog fight or some other kind of a row. We pushed our way in.

Johnny and Yank were backed up against the palmetto awning of one of the boats in an attitude of deadly and quiet menace. Not two yards away stood four of our well dressed friends. Nobody as yet displayed a weapon, except that Yank's long rifle lay across the hollow of his left arm instead of butt to earth, but it was evident that lightning were playing. The boatman, who had appeared, alone was saying anything, but he seemed to be supplying language for the lot.

Johnny's tense, alert attitude relaxed a little when he saw us.

"Well?" inquired Ward easily. "What's the trouble?"

"Yank and I found our goods dumped out on the beach and others in their place," said Johnny.

"So you proceeded to reverse matters. How about it?" he inquired pleasantly of the four men.

"I know nothing about it," replied one of them shortly. "We hired this boat, and we intend to have it, and no whippersnapper is going to keep us from it."

"I see," said Talbot pleasantly. "Well, excuse me a moment while I talk to our friend." He addressed the man in Spanish and received short, sullen replies. "He says," Talbot explained to us, "that he never saw us before in his life and never agreed to take us up the river."

"Well, that settles it," stated the other man.

"How much did you offer to pay him?" asked Talbot.

The man stared. "None of your business," he replied.

"They're asking $20 a head," volunteered one of the interested spectators.

"Exactly. You see," said Talbot to us, "we got here a little too early. Our bargain was for only $15, and now this worthy citizen has made a better rate for himself."

"You should have had the bargain immediately registered before the alcalde, senor," spoke up a white dressed Spaniard of the better class, probably from the castle.

"I thank you, senor," said Talbot courteously. "That neglect is due to my ignorance of your charming country."

"And now if you'll move, young turkey cock, we'll just take our boat," said another of the claimants.

"One moment!" said Talbot Ward, with a new edge to his voice. "This is my boat, not yours. My baggage is in it; my boatman is on the ground. That he is forgetful has nothing to do with the merits of the case. You know this as well as I do. Now, you can acknowledge this peacefully and get out or you can fight. I don't care a continental red copper which. Only, I warn you, the first man who makes a move with anything but his two feet will be shot dead."

He stood, his hands hanging idly by his sides, and he spoke very quietly. The four men were not cowards, that I'll swear, but one and all they stared into Ward's eyes and came individually to the same conclusion. I do not doubt that dancing flicker of reflection or of devilment was very near the surface.

"Of course, if you are very positive, I should not dream of doubting your word or of interfering," said the tallest and quietest, who had remained in the background. "We desire to do injustice to no man."

Johnny, behind us, snorted loudly and derisively.

"If my knowledge of Spanish is of any value in assisting you to a boat, pray command me," broke in Ward.

The crowd moved off, the boatman with it. I reached out and collared him.

Talbot had turned on Johnny. "Fairfax," said he jolly, "one of the first things you must learn is not to stir things up again once a victory is gained. Those men were sore, and you took the best method possible of bringing on a real fight."

Poor Johnny flushed to the roots of his hair.

"You're right," said he in a stifled voice.

Talbot Ward thawed completely, and a most winning smile illumined his face.

"Why, that's what I call handsome, Johnny!" he cried. "It's pretty hard

"The first man who makes a move with anything but his two feet will be shot dead."

To admit the wrong. You and Yank certainly looked bold and warlike when he came along. Where's that confounded mozo? Oh, you have him, Frank! Good boy! Come here, my amiable citizen. I guess you understand English after all, or you couldn't have bargained so shrewdly with our blackleg friends."

The flush slowly faded from Johnny's face. Yank's sole contribution to the changed conditions was to spit with great care and to shift the butt of his rifle to the ground.

"Now," Talbot was admonishing the boatman, "that was very bad. When you make a bargain stick to it. But I'll tell you what I will do. I will ask all people, sate, everywhere—your people, my people—and if everybody pays $20, then we pay $20. Sate? But we pay $20 unless you get us to Cruces poco pronto, sate? Now we start."

The boatman broke into a torrent of talk.

"Says he's got to find his assistant," Talbot explained to us. "Come on, my son. I'll just go with you after that precious assistant."

We sat on the edge of our boat for half an hour, watching the most comical scenes. Everybody was afflicted with the same complaint—absence of boatman. Some took possession and settled themselves patiently beneath their little roofs. Others made forays and returned dragging protesting natives by the arm. These generally turned out to be the wrong natives, but that was a mere detail. Once in a lucky while the full boat's complement would be gathered, and then the craft would pull away up the river to the tune of pistol shots and vociferous yells.

At the end of the period mentioned Talbot and the two men appeared. They were quite amiable—indeed, friendly—and laughed together as they came. The "assistant" proved to be a tremendous negro, nearly naked, with fine big muscles and a good natured, grinning face. He wore large brass ear circles and bracelets of copper. We all pushed the canoe to the very edge of the water and clambered aboard. The negro bent his mighty shoulders. We were aloft.

Our padrone, as Talbot told us we should call him, stood in front clad in a colored muslin shirt. The broad sluggish river was alive with boats, all making their way against the current. By the time the lagoon had narrowed, however, they had pretty well scattered.

We entered a tropical forest, and never shall I forget the wonder of it. The banks were lined to the water's edge with vegetation, so that one could see nothing but the jungle. There were great palm trees, which we recognized, and teak trees, which we did not, but which Talbot identified for us. It was a very bold sort of tree, as I remember it. Then there were tremendous sycamores in which were anteaters' nests as big as beehives, and banana trees with torn leaves, probably the most exotic touch of all, and beautiful noble mangos like domes of green cathedral, and various sorts of canes and shrubs and lilies growing among them.

Our men paddled steadily ahead. The negro hummed strange minor songs to himself. Suddenly he flashed his teeth at us and broke into full

Notes:

Oh, Susannah, don't cry for me! I'm off to California with my banjo on my knee.

The accent was queer, but the words and tune were right. Talbot questioned him in Spanish.

"He says all Americans sing it. He has taken many up the river."

"Too many," muttered Johnny. "I wish we'd started three months sooner."

It was growing dusk when we came in sight of a village of bamboo huts on the right bank. To this we headed. Hardly had the boat struck the beach when both of our men leaped ashore and raced madly toward the huts, pausing only long enough to slide the boat beyond the grip of the river.

We followed, considerably mystified. Quick as we were, we found both the padrone and his man, together with a dozen others, already seated at a monte table. The padrone was acting as banker!

We discovered the name of this place to be Gatun. Talbot found us a native hut in which were hammocks we could rent for the night. The hut was a two storied affair, with a notched pole by which to clamber aloft. I took one look and decided to stay below. My weight seemed sufficient to bring the whole thing down about our ears.

I do not know which had the better of it. My hammock was slung across one corner of the single room. A cooking fire blazed merrily five or six feet away. Some ten or a dozen natives were drinking and talking until nearly morning, and to my personal knowledge some ten or a dozen thousand fleas were doing the same. Six dogs were that hut's allowance. They discovered that my weight sagged my hammock down to a height just suitable for the rubbing of their backs. In vain I smote with boot or pistol barrel. They kiyied and departed, but only for a moment. I had not even time to fall into a doze before one of the others was back at it. This amused the drinking natives. I suppose the poor beasts very passionately wanted to scratch their backs. I could sympathize with them. None of them could have had as many fleas as I had, for their superficial area was not as great, but perhaps they had as many per square inch.

In the course of the night it began to rain. I mean really rain, "without going into details as to drops," as somebody has said. Then I ceased envying my friends upstairs, for from all sounds I judged the roof was leaking.

Next morning it was still drizzling. The town was full of sad-eyed, wearied men. I think every one had had about the same experience. The padrone was at first a little inclined to delay, but he quickly recognized that our mood was bad, so shortly we were under way.

That day was not an unmitigated joy. It rained, picking the surface of the river up in little spots and fings. The forest dripped steadily. All the butterflies and bright birds had disappeared, and sullen, shifting clouds fairly touched the treetops. It was cold. Wrap ourselves as we would, we became thoroughly chilled.

LIME-SULPHUR ANIMAL DIPS

Convenient Formula for Preparing Solution Suggested by Department Specialist.

A convenient formula for preparing lime-sulphur dips, termed the 8-18-10 formula, is suggested, as a result of extensive experiments, in professional paper No. 451, The Chemical Composition of Lime-Sulphur Animal Dips recently published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The experimental work was undertaken with the object of improving existing formulas so as to simplify the preparation and, if possible, lessen the cost of these dips. To accomplish these purposes the author recommends—but solely for use as an animal dip—the 8-18-10 formula; that is, 8 pounds of high-grade commercial quicklime, 18 pounds fine sulphur (either flowers or flour), with somewhat more than 10 gallons of water, boiled to a volume of 10 gallons at the finish. The time of actual boiling should be one hour. The theoretical ratio between lime and sulphur will be met by this formula if the lime is 98.3 per cent pure; therefore the formula as given is appropriate for preparing a solution for dipping sheep where any chance of an excess of lime must be avoided. If commercial hydrated (not air-slaked) lime is used the amount should be increased nearly one-third, say, to 10.5 pounds. For dipping cattle the formula may be used on the basis of available calcium oxide if the analysis of the lime is known, or if not known the lime may safely be raised to 8.5 pounds, corresponding to 92.5 per cent available oxide, possibly even to 9 pounds.

The finish solution, drawn off from the sediment, should theoretically contain 18 per cent (grams per 100 c. c.) of sulphid sulphur, but probably will contain somewhat less. It is, therefore, appropriate for dipping sheep at a dilution of 1 volume of concentrate to 9 or 10 volumes of water, and for cattle at a dilution of 1 volume of concentrate to 7 or 8 volumes of water. But in any event, since baths lose strength during dipping, it is very desirable to keep them at all times under control by means of a "field test."

It is pointed out that this formula does not necessarily apply to the making of highly concentrated proprietary solutions.

The bulletin, which is highly technical, contains in its 16 pages the results of a number of experiments on the effect of storing and of varying the concentration and ingredients, which should be of interest to chemists and veterinarians.

THINK ON THESE THINGS

Did it ever occur to you, dear reader, that the paper you are reading now—that you read every day—may be still unpaid for and that the publisher is obliged to pay ever month for the type, the ink, the other materials—that several thousand dollars is always invested in paper and that those employed in getting out the paper are paid every Saturday night, while you read your paper day after day, month after month, and year after year, sometimes, with apparently little thought as to your obligations?

The time has come when we must use different methods. Those on the rural routes and other who receive their paper by mail, must pay year in advance. Please, right now take the time to look at the little yellow tag on your paper, appreciate past favors, and send in the amount which is due. To those who receive their paper by carrier we ask that they pay our city circulator Robert Fulton, come to the office, or pay the carrier boy, each Saturday night.

If you wish to be a reader of this paper, you must fulfill your part of the contract,—that of paying for it. 115 12

U. S. PROSPERITY FOR ALL MANKIND, WILSON

President Addresses Reunion of Confederate Veterans.

Washington, June 6.—President Wilson, welcoming the confederate veterans to their reunion here, declared the country was beginning to see why the nation was kept united. Men of the United States, he said, have a love of liberty at heart and now are to be an instrument in the hands of providence for the liberty of mankind.

The President said he felt there was some significance in the coincidence that at the moment he was welcoming the former host of the confederacy to the capital of the nation they sought to destroy, millions of young men were registering themselves for service to keep the world free.

"These solemn lines of young men going today all over the union to the places of registration," said he, "ought to be a signal to the world, to those who dare flout the dignity and honor and rights of the United States, that all her manhood will flock to that standard under which we all delight to serve and that he who challenges the rights and principles of the United States challenges the union strength and devotion of a nation."

"We have prospered with a sort of heedless and irresponsible prosperity. Now we are going to lay all our wealth, if necessary, and spend all our blood, if need be, to show that we were not accumulating that wealth selfishly, but were accumulating it for the service of mankind."

ONE IS DEAD IN PRISON MUTINY

Refusal to permit women friends to visit the convicts was the chief cause of the disorder, Warden Bowen said. The prisoners rebelled at this new regulation and became mutinous when the warden refused to receive their committee. Rebellion broke forth at breakfast. Fire was set within the prison inclosure and several buildings were destroyed or damaged. For four hours the battle raged between convicts, guards and militiamen, who had been given rush orders to help put down the mutiny.

One Leap to Death.
John Flaherty, a life term prisoner from Chicago, jumped from one of the burning buildings in an attempt to escape, and died of his injuries. Teddy Webb, leader of the notorious Chicago auto bandits in their career of crime several years ago, was among other convicts hurt in a leap from a burning building. Several guards and militiamen received minor injuries when they were volleyed with bricks by the convicts.

The militiamen fired several volleys over the heads of the convicts to cow them, but had orders to use only their bayonets unless the situation became critical.

Others Injured.

The injured are:
Walter O'Brien, former Chicago detective sergeant, elbow dislocated in leap from burning building; James Murphy, leader of the rioters, hit with butt end of gun and skull fractured; will probably die; James Williams, stabbed in the back by a fellow prisoner when he helped firemen to extinguish flames in one of the burning buildings; Michael O'Connell, knocked out by soldier; William Hayward, guard, suffered fracture of hand from rebounding bullet; Peter Waters, guard, struck by a brick thrown by a rioter; Rev. Andrew J. Patrick, Protestant chaplain of the prison; burned on the hand in helping the firemen.

The fire damage was estimated by the warden at $50,000. A building attached to the structure used as the prison chapel was destroyed and the oil shop, paint shop and rattan shop suffered serious damage.

GET TO THE CAUSE

Dixon People Are Learning the Way

There is but little peace or comfort for the man or woman with a bad back. The distress begins in early morning—keeps up through out the day. It's hard to get out of bed, it's torture to stoop or straighten. Plasters and liniments may relieve, but cannot cure if the cause is inside—the kidneys. When suffering so, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the tested and proven kidney remedy used in kidney troubles for over 50 years. Doan's Kidney Pills are recommended by thousands for just such cases. Proof of their effectiveness in the testimony of this Dixon resident.

Mrs. Leland Pontius, 609 S. Crawford St., says: "I fairly screamed with pains in my back across my kidneys, in fact, I was as helpless as a child for nearly a month. I couldn't turn in bed and would have cold sweats. I thought the awful misery in my back would kill me. My kidneys were in terribly bad shape, doctored and took almost everything I heard of, besides using plasters and liniments, but nothing gave relief. Our family doctor said ought to be operated on, as I had passed gravel stone. My husband objected to the operation and got me a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. I could notice improvement right away and was finally able to get up and go about my housework. Doan's Kidney Pills removed the gravel in the form of a sort of sediment."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Pontius had. Foster-McBarn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

REGISTRATION IS WITHOUT HITCH

Washington, June 6.—Registration day passed off without a hitch. There was little trouble and few slacker. Reports from forty states to the war department showed the registration a complete success.

At 6 o'clock Tuesday evening Attorney General Gregory issued the following statement just before closing his office for the night:

"Reports received today at the department of justice relative to registration indicate a ready and general response on the part of the young men of the country to the demands of the conscription act.

"So far only three arrests have been reported to the department and none of these grew out of a serious situation. No resistance to registration has come to my attention."

Antidraft Plot Fails.

Reports from governors of the various states to provost marshal General Crowder showed that there was no serious trouble anywhere in the country. Officials express the opinion that in the face of the information at hand not only the antidraft propaganda which was given widespread circulation throughout the country for the last week, failed utterly and that the German efforts to embarrass the government failed miserably but that there was comparatively little "slackening." Complete figures are expected to show that seven-eighths of the men eligible registered.

Few Arrests Made.

The arrests reported to the department of justice were made at Hamilton, O., Hartford, Conn., and a St. Louis suburb. Details had not been received at a late hour, but officials at the department expressed the belief that the incidents were merely local.

A fourth arrest was made at Coeburn, Va., where a man cursed the President, the administration and the flag. He was held in heavy bail for trial.

Government officials made it plain that while only these four cases had been reported to the department, there probably were numerous other arrests by local authorities for minor disturbances. Only cases of a more serious nature were reported to Washington.

Secretary of War Baker and Attorney General Gregory presented most encouraging reports on the registration to the President at the cabinet meeting in the afternoon.

In the national capital the registration was remarkably large, exceeding even the estimates of the government, as to the number of men eligible. There were no disturbances. Of the few arrests for drunkenness near the registration places and similar minor offenses, one man was taken to jail for crying out at a long line before one of the booths "drive the slaves in." He himself was past the registration age.

Nearly 10,000,000 Register.

The following comment on the registration was made by the official committee on public information:

"Nearly 10,000,000 Americans of military age registered today for service in an army against Germany."

"The registration was accomplished in a fashion measuring up to the highest standards of Americanism. There was no hint of a slacking spirit anywhere except in a few cases, where misguided persons had been prevailed upon to attempt to avoid their national obligation."

"From every state reports were received showing that the sporadic conspiracies to thwart the first step toward the mobilization of as large an army as the country may need to bring the war to a victorious conclusion had failed utterly."

"The spirit of the young men from whom the fighting forces are to be selected was evidenced in their attitude toward question 12 on the registration blanks, which asked if exemption was claimed. In thousands of cases young men availed themselves of their right to ignore this question, and leave it entirely to the government to decide whether they should be selected."

No figures on the registration were available. Provost Marshal General Crowder explained that any early estimates would have to come from the cities where the registration took place.

The war department will receive the only official figures and it will probably take several days to compile them.

A Word About TITAN KEROSENE TRACTORS

The time is almost here when every farmer will have to consider changing over from horse or gasoline to kerosene power. According to Government figures, based on present prices of hay and grain, horse feed costs 17 1/2 cents or more for every hour's work a horse does. That's much too much.

The Vice President of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana recently issued a public warning to users of gasoline that the time would soon come when there would not be gasoline enough to go around. It is not safe today to buy a farm tractor that requires the use of gasoline.

In the meantime, the Titan tractor, in three and four-pow sizes, has been built to work on kerosene, does work successfully on kerosene, and is guaranteed to work on kerosene.

Kerosene, which costs less than half as much as gasoline, is produced in almost unlimited quantities. You can always get a supply of common coal oil. As compared with the cost of feeding horses, a Titan tractor delivers a horse power at the draw-bar a fuel and oil cost of five cents or less for each hour's work.

Farmers who want to make all the money they can are buying Titan tractors. They are using them for field work, belt work, and hauling. We have yet to hear of the first dissatisfied Titan tractor user. Think it over. When you are ready for some valuable inside information about tractors and tractor fuel, come in and see us.
